FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY AT 28 FEB 2025

February was challenging to navigate, as many momentum leaders hit a wall mid-month and sharply reversed course. Positioning by retail investors may have become overly crowded, but the decline already seems to have washed out sentiment, with the American Association of Individual Investors' Bulls vs Bears spread falling to one of the lowest readings in the survey's history. At the same time, Goldman Sach's Panic Index fell to the lowest level since January 2022, while the CNN Fear & Greed Index reached an "Extreme Fear" reading. Historically, negative extremes in sentiment have represented attractive buying opportunities and have foreshadowed decent returns over the medium term. Investor positioning aside, many of our holdings reported continued operational strength. One example is enterprise software company Monday.com, which stands to benefit from and drive greater adoption of AI-enabled productivity tools. Monday.com reported 32% YoY revenue growth in 4Q24, with particularly impressive 45% YoY growth in large customers as the company continues to push up-market. Elsewhere, brokerage platform Robinhood reported an incredible 115% YoY revenue growth in 4Q24, while Adjusted EBITDA grew by an astounding 361% YoY and 129% QoQ. Robinhood is the go-to investment platform among US Gen Zs and Millennials, as evidenced by its explosive 733% YoY growth in crypto-related revenues in 4Q24 following Donald Trump's US election win. At the time of writing, a combination of depressed sentiment and positive operating momentum leads us to be optimistic over the medium term.

A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TERs. Transaction Costs are a necessary cost in administering the Fund and impacts Fund returns. The TIC should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors including market returns, the type of Fund, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER. The TER and Transaction Cost calculations are based upon the portfolio's direct costs for the financial year ended 31 December 2024, whilst the underlying portfolios ratio and cost calculations are based upon their most recent published figures, being 31 December 2024.
